‘Dedgah Zan’ Photo Competition 2020

During this time of COVID-19, lock downs and increased domestic violence, how does an Afghan woman view herself? How does she want to be seen? And how does she want to be treated?

United Nations in Afghanistan announced the 2020 photo contest on the theme of ‘Dedgah Zan’ or ‘Through Her Eyes’ to narrate the positive, vibrant and colourful stories of women and girls during this darkly challenging time. Photos may speak of family and domesticity, of work, of friendships, of leisure or a variety of different scenarios.
Muzhgan, a 25-year-old Afghan woman is a courageous person, and a star athlete, with a place on the Afghanistan women's national volleyball team. She is also a keen student and has always dreamt of pursuing higher education outside of her home country. Today, together with 30 other young Afghan women, she is a scholarship holder for a Master’s degree programme in Almaty, Kazakhstan.

Mezhgan is a strong believer in empowering women and girls. She used to train girls to play sports and spent a lot of time trying to convince their conservative parents to allow them to participate. Grappling with a legacy of war and the stripping of women’s rights under the Taliban, Afghanistan is one of the toughest places in the world to grow up female.
